

What We Do ...

Challenging

Across the county, we have successfully challenged many inappropriate planning proposals. With the support of an experienced, independent planning consultant, we submit strong objections to developments which are harmful to our precious countryside, landscapes and wildlife habitats. These challenges often result in inappropriate plans being refused or force developers to go back to the drawing board.

Celebrating

Devon is a glorious part of the country and we want to keep it that way. We organise and attend events which celebrate the natural environment and outdoor life in Devon. We hold annual art and writing competitions to encourage children to value the coast, countryside and wildlife we are privileged to have around us, and we hold an annual competition celebrating Devon's living churchyards.

Campaigning

We campaign on issues to improve life in rural communities and protect nature and the environment. We want affordable, sustainable homes in the right places and improved local infrastructure, like the reinstatement of the Exeter-Okehampton rail line. Many households and businesses do their bit to recycle, but littering and flytipping is on the increase and too much still ends up in landfill or polluting our countryside, coastline and waterways.

Championing

We champion sensitive, considered development and best practice across the county. We organise important seminars and events like our specialist 'Planning Workshops' to equip town and parish councils with the tools to influence the planning process for the better - fighting unwanted proposals and championing well-conceived, sustainable development. We also support other initiatives and organisations who share our values.

As a member of the Devon branch of the Campaign to Protect Rural England you'll be helping to protect the county and countryside you love. For just £3 a month - little more than the cost of a takeaway coffee - you could have a lasting impact on Devon's landscapes and communities.

CPRE Devon is the only local, independent charity working to protect our precious countryside, green spaces and unique landscapes across Devon - for the benefit of all.

As a CPRE Devon member, you'll be supporting this vital work:

- challenging inappropriate development
- campaigning to provide affordable, sustainable homes in the right places and for improved infrastructure and facilities to support communities
- celebrating the natural environment and outdoor life in our county
- championing sensitive, considered development and best practice

Once farmland and green spaces are built on, they're lost forever. This is doubly important in a county that attracts so many visitors because of its natural beauty and is heavily dependent on income from tourism.

We know that new homes and other developments are needed in Devon to maintain a vibrant economy, but should this be at the expense of our tranquil and beautiful environment? Are we building the type and quantity of new homes Devon really needs? Are developers and planners being held properly to account?

By joining your local branch of the CPRE here in Devon you'll be making a crucial contribution to our work saving the countryside.

CPRE Devon is funded solely by memberships, donations and legacies. Together, with your support, we can make a real difference to Devon.
